“ She was one sweet lady. Fond memories of her live on here in Cincinnati. We were first cousins, but she was 23 years my elder. I remember when I was about 16 and she must have been around 39. I was looking through an old photo album with her and Viola, and came across a picture of her when she was about 16. I commented something along the lines of "You use to be pretty hot". I was set straight that "use to be" was not the correct way to phrase that. I never made that mistake again. Every day I still use the yarn covered clothes hangers that Viola made. It never fails to remind me of where they came from, and thoughts of both of them always bring a smile to my heart. If any of you find yourselves passing through Cincinnati way be sure to look me up. 513-860-9929
